DIPHTHERIA.

Rules Suggested by the Philadelphia Board of Health for Dealing With the Disease.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

In order to prevent the spread of diphtheria and to inform the public of the best means of checking the spread of the disease, and provide the people with rules for treating the distemper, the Philadelphia Board of Health last week appointed a special committee to prepare a report on the subject. The committee Tuesday, through Dr. Richardson, the chairman, laid before the board its report:

Recent investigations having proved that the poison of diphtheria is portable, communicable by infection, and reproducing itself outside of the human body," says the committee, "diphtheria must now be ranked as both a contagious and infectious disease. The following rules are, therefore, more imperative than ever before:

"When a child or young person has a sore throat, a bad odor to its breath, and especially if it has fever, it should immediately be separated and kept secluded from all other persons, except necessary attendants, until it be ascertained or not if it has diphtheria or some other communicable disease.

"Every person known to be sick with diphtheria should be promptly and effectively isolated from the public. Only those persons who are actually necessary should have charge of or visit the patient, and these persons should be restricted in their intercourse with other individuals. Children residing in a house where there is a case of diphtheria should not be permitted to attend school.

"When a case of diphtheria is fully developed the same precautions in regard to free ventilation, disposal and disinfection or discharges, bed or body linen and so forth, isolation during convalescence (or management of the corpse should death unfortunately occur) ought to be enforced as follows: Have the patient placed in one of the upper rooms of the house, the furthest removed from the rest of the family where is to be had the best ventilation and isolation. The room should be instantly cleared of all curtains, carpets, woolen good and all unnecessary furniture. Keep the room constantly well ventilated by means of open windows and fires if necessary. Maintain the utmost cleanliness both with regard to the patient and in the room. A basin charged with chloride or carbolic acid or some other convenient disinfectant should be kept constantly on the bed for the patient to spit in. Change the clothing of the patient as often as needful, but do not carry it while dry through the house. A large vessel (a tub) containing water impregnated with a solution of carbolic acid in the proportion of four fluid ounces (Calvert's No. 4 or No. 5) to the gallon of water should always stand in the room for the reception of all bed and body linen immediately on removal from the person or contact with the patient. Pocket handkerchiefs should not be used, but small pieces of rag should be employed instead for wiping the nose, and each piece after being once used should be immediately burned. Two basins, one containing water impregnated with a solution of carbolic acid of permanganate of potassa and the other containing plain water and a good supply of towels, must always be ready and convenient, so that the hands of the nurse may be at once washed after the patient. All glasses, cups, and other vessels used by or about the patient should be scrupulously cleansed before being used by others. The discharges from the bowels and kidneys are to be received, on their very issue from the body, into vessels containing some disinfectant, as a solution of two pounds of sulphate of iron in a gallon of water, or four fluid ounces of carbolic acid (Calvert's No. 5) to a gallon of water, and immediately removed. No person should be allowed to enter the room except those who are attending upon the sick. Boiling is one of the surest ways of disinfecting all contaminated clothing. A solution of carbolic acid should first be added to the water. Any material which can not be washed without injury should be exposed to dry heat of about 340 degrees Fahrenheit, or fumigated in a closed chamber, as directed below. A hot air disinfecting chamber has been provided on the hospital grounds, where beds, woolen goods, &c., may be disinfected under the direction of officers appointed by the board. All articles that can be spared should be destroyed by fire. When persons have had the diphtheria, whether they get well or die, the room which they have occupied should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

The furniture should be washed with a strong solution of chloralum (three or four ounces to the gallon of water), or preferably, with carbolic acid and soap. Afterward the floor and woodwork should be washed with carbolic acid soap or with chloride of lime and water, and the paper should be removed by moistening with chloralum or carbolic acid solution. Then, after closing the doors, windows and all other openings, the room should be fumigated by burning sulphur in an iron dish and kept closed for several hours. Chlorine gas may be used instead, and may be generated by pouring strong sulphuric acid upon equal parts of common salt and binoxide of manganese, to which some water has been added. After this the room should be well aired for several days by throwing open the doors and windows, and then the ceiling should be whitewashed and the walls re-papered or whitewashed.

"It is particularly important that persons whose throats are tender or sore from any cause should avoid possible exposure to the contagion of diphtheria. Children under ten years of age are in much greater danger of taking the disease and after they do, of dying from it, than are grown persons. But adults are not exempt, and mild cases in them may cause whole series of fatal attacks among children.

"Numerous instances are recorded where the contagion of diphtheria has retained its virulence for weeks or months in cesspools, heaps of decaying vegetable matter, damp walls, etc., and been carried for long distances in clothing, in sewers, in waste pipes from stationary wash-stands and in other conduits. Hence all sewer connections and other carriers of filth should be well ventilated and disinfected, and children particularly should not be allowed to breathe the air of any water-closet, cesspool, or sewer into which discharges from patients sick with diphtheria have entered, nor drink water or milk which has been exposed to such air.

"Beware of any person who has a sore throat; do not kiss such a person or take his or her breath; do not drink from the same cup, blow the same whistle, nor put his pencil or pen into your mouth.

"Do not wear or handle clothing which has been worn by a person during sickness or convalescence from diphtheria."

These rules met with the approval of the board, and were ordered to be printed for public distribution. About 100,000 copies will be circulated in the schools. Health Officer Addicks submitted a report showing that since January 759 deaths from the disease have occurred, and 1,126 cases reported. The cases announced so far this month number 302; the deaths, 95.

Subsequently, on the recommendation of the Registration Committee, the board decided that no body of a person who had died of cholera, relapsing, scarlet, yellow, typhus or spotted fever, or small-pox or diphtheria shall be removed from the city, except for interment in the adjacent rural districts.

THE Indian appropriation bill has been passed by the house.

ARRANGEMENTS for another pension steal are being perfected at Washington.

A FIRE at Paducah, on Thursday, burned the Southern Hotel and other property valued at $16,000.

GEN. R. M. GANO, it is said, recently cleared $150,000 by the sale of real estate in Texas.

THE money order business of the Post-office Department the present year amounted to $120,000,000.

A FIRE broke out in London, Eng., on Friday, and burned about two acres of business property. The loss is reported to be fifteen million of dollars.

KELLOGG, of Louisiana, as well as Chalmers, will be a figure in the abundant crop of contests promised for the next House. Neither political party is anxious for either Chalmers or Kellogg.

THE railroad commissioner seems to be bearing down a little harder on the railroads than strict justice requires. Their assessment of railroad property is generally conceded to have been exorbitant.

LEXINGTON Transcript: The street cars are paying like a national bank. Those who were afraid of the stock when they were offered a slice, would now like to get several slices. Twas always thus with Lexington old fogies and doubting Dickinsons.

THE Philadelphia Times says: In houses where the diphtheria is or has been the family should gargle throats with alcohol on the first indication of soreness or cough. The alcohol will destroy the membranous fungus speedily. A successful down town physician says that "where this treatment has had an early chance he knows of no case terminating fatally."

THE bill introduced in the House by Mr. Herbert, of Alabama, "to further protect officers and employes of the United States Government, from political assessments," prohibits any Senator or Representative in congress or officer appointed by the President from "requesting or demanding from any of the officers or employes of the Government money or other thing of value for political purposes."

THE following is from the Yeoman: Hon. James B. Hord, the only surviving brother of Judge Lysander Hord, of this city, died at his home in Layfayette county, Missouri, on the 20th of November. He was a native of this state, having been born and reared in Mason, whence he was sent as a Representative to the legislature a few years previous to his move to Missouri. He was a man of very marked character and ability, and occupied a high place in the esteem of the people with whom his fortunes were cast. For several years previous to his death, and at the time, he filled the office of Probate Judge of the county in which he lived. His relatives and friends in Kentucky will regret to see this announcement.

AMONG other schemes of the lobbyists this winter will be the Nicaragua Canal scheme. It is reported that both friends and opponents of this job are getting on their war paint preparatory to a vigorous fight for and against it. Mr. Kasson will champion the measure in the house and Senator Miller, of California, in the senate. It is claimed that Blaine, Frelinghuysen, General Grant and other prominent men favor the measure and will try to get the president to give his influence to its passage. The opposition will be led by Perry Belmont and Blount, of Georgia. It is quite possible that a charter of incorporation will be granted, but hardly probable that any government aid will be extended to the project. This isn't a good year to make grants to railroad or canal enterprises. The people are getting tired of paying taxes for anything but the necessary expenses of government.

THE bill presented to congress by the Tariff Commission, besides enlarging the free list, makes an average reduction in the duties of twenty to twenty-five per cent., the reduction in many instances being from forty to fifty per cent. It is not believed at Washington that there is any prospect of the passage of this bill, or any similar measure, at the present session of congress.

THE Lexington News makes the suggestion that the Governor call the Legislature in special session, to provide for the trial of Neal and Craft in some other part of the state than that assigned by Judge Brown.

A Clean Record.

"A resident of my naybuhhood died de odder day," remarked Brother Gardner, "an' dis ebenin de committee p'inted to write an eulogy on his character, was showin' me a draft of what dey had pre-pard. De eulogy am in seekshuns, an' I'll purceed to kwote it fur you:

"He was a man who did not gib to de poor widow wid one han' an' steal from de tax payers wid de odder."

"He never guv a dollar to de heathen in Afriky, but he allus paid his debts in Ameriky."

"While he did not purfess to be a perfect christian, he remembered dat only one seat belonged to him when he was a trabelin."

"He made no grate adoo 'bout his honesty, an' yit he remembered when an' whar he borreered a hoe or shovel."

"He did not call hisself better'n his feller-man, an' yit he had a kind word fo' a boy wid a sore tore an' a ton of coal fur a naybur wid a broken leg."

"He felt he had a duty to do by de church, an' yit he entered a sarcus by de front doah, an' de soun' of a fiddble put new sperrit into his feet."

"If he'd not sing his hyms from de house tops, neither did de worl' h'ar what he said when he arrove home an' foun' his wife sick a-bed, de hired gal gone an' de baby howlin' wid a paper of pins in his mouf."

There is one farmer in Indiana who will be safe from certain annoyances for the next year to come. Last month a piano man came along and put a piano into the parlor on trial. He was followed by the man with the parlor organ. Then came three different sewing machines, a $200 music-box, three $50 oil paintings, a parlor suit, a $75 mirror, a melodeon, a bookcase, a zither, two accordions and several other articles which he could pay for in monthly installments if he saw fit. The old farmer welcomed every sort of an agent and they left every sort of an instrument ever devised by mortal man, until the farm-house was a vast museum of natural curiosities. When the last agent had disappeared the old house took fire from a defective flue and was burned to the ground, and not a single article left by the agents was saved. "Some call it one thing and some another," said the old man as he pocketed the insurance on his house and goods, "but I dunno. Providence sometimes works in curious ways."

My gittin' burned out will give this deer a rest for a hull year to come." Wall Street News.

MRS. JOHN HAGGARD, of Clarke county, has a gourd that is known to have been in the possession of the family for over 400 years.

THE track of the Maysville division of the Kentucky Central is being laid with steel rails. Several miles of track have already been put down.

JACK THOMPSON, who was drowned when the steamer Morning Star exploded her boilers on the lower Mississippi a few days ago, was a citizen of Ripley. Engineer Mark Pennywitt, who was severely injured, lived at Manchester.

A DESPATCH to the Courier-Journal from Grayson, Carter County, says: The people of Carter county very much dislike the idea of Neal and Craft being brought here for trial in February, but affirm that justice can be done them there and good order maintained without the aid of troops. No trouble is anticipated, even should the troops come.

BUYERS of holiday goods are informed that Messrs. J. C. Pecor & Co., have just received an immense stock of articles suitable to the Christmas season. Their stock is larger than any they have heretofore had and embraces a great variety of elegant goods at very low prices. The readers of the BULLETIN are invited to call and see their stock.

At the request of Dr. James Shackleford we print elsewhere the Report of the Philadelphia Board of Health wherein are suggested the best methods of preventing the spread of diphtheria and rules prescribed for the treatment of this dread disorder. The paper contains information of value to every household, and it ought therefore to be cut out and preserved.

MESSRS. MORRISON & KACKLEY to-day, advertise a variety of holiday goods which will be found very elegant and suitable to the season. Their stock has been selected with unusual care and is very complete, while prices are quite as low as the most exacting could expect. A visit to this establishment will convince any one that they have a well selected and attractive stock of goods.

Religious.

Services will be held as usual at the Church of the Nativity to-morrow morning and evening, by Rev. W. D. Powers.

Rev. M. D. Reynolds will conduct the services at the M. E. Church, south, to-morrow morning, assisted by Rev. G. S. Savage.

Rev. A. Boreing will preach at the M. E. Church, Third street, at the usual hour to-morrow morning. Subject: I Kings 11th chapter 47th verse.

There will be no services at the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches to-morrow evening, owing to the meeting of the Mason County Bible Society at the Christian Church, in which the congregations named will join.

Rev. J. K. Pace will preach at Washington, to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. He will hold services as usual at the Baptist Church in this city to-morrow morning, but there will be no service at night. Subject of sermon: "Good tidings of great joy."

The congregation of the southern Presbyterian Church will hold services at the church on Third street to-morrow morning. The Rev. W. W. Moore, of Millersburg, will occupy the pulpit. Everybody is invited.

There will be no services at the Presbyterian chapel in the Fifth Ward to-morrow, owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. S. B. Alderson, who has gone to Frankfort to hold services in the Presbyterian church in that place.

Holiday Edition.

During the week preceding Christmas the DAILY BULLETIN will be enlarged to a five column paper and an edition of one thousand copies printed and circulated each day in this city, Chester, Aberdeen and in the other towns adjacent to Maysville. We shall thus be enabled to offer the business men of the city who wish to advertise their holiday goods, the best and at the same time the cheapest medium for doing so. Our patrons may rely upon having their favors printed in six thousand papers during the week, all of which will be circulated where they will be of the most benefit to advertisers. Call and ascertain our rates. Contracts should be made immediately as our space will be limited.

Railroad Accidents.

A passenger train on the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad on Thursday collided with a freight train in a tunnel near Huntington, Ky., one hundred and twenty miles east of Huntington. Four or five persons were killed and about twenty injured, some of whom will die. Both trains were running at full speed.

A freight train on the Kentucky Central coming north Friday afternoon about three o'clock, left the track about two miles from this city. Two cars were badly crushed. One of them was loaded with lumber.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Midshipman Dan. Morgan is attached to the United States steamer Lackawana, which is at present in the Pacific ocean on the west coast of South America.

Smart Yearling.

Lexington Transcript.

The Maysville DAILY BULLETIN is a year old, and is a remarkably smart yearling.

"KNIGHTS of the Wise men of the World" is the name of a colored organization at Mt. Sterling.

The conspicuous absence of those "300" brass medals, since the recent election, suggests the thought that they are no longer fashionsble. Is this so?

The following named persons are the officers selected to hold the city election in January:

First Ward, Outten's tin shop—Wm. H. Campbell, J. D. Bridges, Sr., and W. C. McLanahan.
Second Ward, City Hall—J. H. Rains, W. F. Adamson and James Rankins.
Third Ward, Gymnasium building—J. H. Sallee, Chas. McAuliffe and Leslie Worthington.
Fourth Ward, Stickley's shop—John L. Grant, Charles Phister and S. R. Powell.
Fifth Ward, Franklin's tin shop—W. H. Pollett, J. M. Ball and E. B. Powell.

The council committee on ways and means at the last meeting of the board reported the debts of the city that will mature the coming year, as follows:

Bonds	$ 9,000 00
Note to Bank of Maysville	5,000 00
Note to H. C. Northcott	1,030 00
Interest	6,279 00
Current expenses	23,475 00
Total	$44,754 00
Estimated deficiency of this year	5,000 00

Grand total.....$49,754 00
Receipts from licenses, dividends, premiums, rent, taxes and wharfage is $35,524 36, leaving a deficit of $14,239 61.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Councilmen on Thursday evening, the committee on Ways and Means recommended that the council employ three competent men to furnish a statement by wards of the actual cash value of each piece of property in the city, and that the council assess the property so returned at a fixed rate and let it stand as the assessment of the city for a period of five years. The committee was instructed to prepare an ordinance embodying the suggestions made and submit it to the council at the next meeting.

Plum Pudding.

One pound of raisins, stoned; one pound of currants, washed and dried; one pound of rich beef suet, minced; one pound of stale bread crumbs one pound of flour. Mix the bread crumbs, flour and suet together. Beat six eggs well and add to them a pint of sweet milk, a tablespoonful of soda, in the milk. Beat the eggs and milk with the suet and flour for some time, then stir in the currants and raisins, mixing well as you proceed. Mix in also one-fourth of a pound of candied orange and lemon peel, cut in small pieces, one ounce of powdered cinnamon, one half once of powdered ginger, one grated nutmeg and a little salt; either bake or boil according to taste. Bake nearly two hours. If boiled, pour into a cloth, tie the cloth, allowing a little room to swell, and boil six hours. It is better boiled. Serve with vanilla sauce.

Japanese Diet.

Japan furnishes an example that tells largely in favor of a vegetarian diet. That the Japanese are a people of muscle and great physical endurance is apparent on every hand. The specimens of muscular development shown in the build and structure of the working classes are evidences of great strength and hardiness. The diet of these men is entirely of vegetables and fish, and they are very economical feeders at that. The quantity of food they require, or, at least, the quantity that they eat, is astonishingly small when compared with the food devoured by the meat eaters from the Western World. The amount of manual labor they perform is prodigious. The coolie who does the work for which oxen and horses are utilized elsewhere is about as strong and can accomplish about as much heavy work as the beasts of burden they take the place of. They are possessed of immense power of limb, being able to pull loads that would be considered as much as any ordinary draught animal could draw. It is wonderful to see them walking away with the heavy loads they easily move; and as carriers of burdens upon the shoulder they are capable of startling achievements. Seemingly their frames are as tough as steel, not susceptible of cold or intense heat—going thinly clad in freezing weather, and not shrinking from the sun in its most oppressive seasons.—*Yokohama Cor.
